

EIGHTEEN FANS GUEST OF HERALD

Winners of Missing Word Contest
Seats Without Cost.

Eleventh-hour joy was dispensed to eighteen Washington ball fans yesterday when The Herald printed the list of winners in the missing word contest. Eighteen ardent rooters for the home team were suddenly transformed from a state of misery to one of complete happiness when they found their names among the fortunate ones to be declared the winners of two front row seats in the grand stand at yesterday's battle for victory between the Nationals and Athletics.

Despairing of being able to secure seats for the game which 17,000 fans would be at the ball park cheering our heroes on to victory, is a sad lot to contemplate, and if you have the baseball fever it will not be difficult to imagine the feelings of these eighteen fans when they were whisked away to the realm of joy on learning that they had been comfortably provided for because of the fact that they were readers of The Washington Herald's advertising columns.

They called bright and early for their tickets yesterday morning, the smiles on their faces radiating the happiness in their hearts. They received their tickets—the best obtainable—and, as a climax to a day begun with good fortune, they saw the Nationals whip the world's champions to the tune of 5 to 4—all that was necessary to make their happiness complete.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

All paths led to the baseball arena yesterday, and it need not be said that those paths were trodden. Legislators touched elbows with those for whom they legislate; doctors sat beside patients; lawyers near clients; court judges near recalcitrants; and so on—in fact, extremes met most palpably.

It would be impossible to chronicle the doings of legions in different businesses and an extra page or two would have to be printed if all of the "died-in-the-fabric" fans' names were mentioned. Among those who were seen at the breezy fringes that were enjoyed by fully 20,000 ardent rooters, the following were spied-out by our eagle-eyed tabber of "those present":

President Taft and Vice President Sherman occupied boxes and enjoyed the game hugely. The Chevy Chase Club was represented by Dr. Lee Harban, Sam Dalsell, Rudolph Kaufmann, Victor Kaufmann, F. De Courcy Faust, C. L. Marliath, Alexander Britton, and D. S. Barry, while Bennochburg bailed showing there by the presence of Dr. J. H. London, J. L. Smith, John W. Branner, and J. E. Pearson. Columbia Country Club's members were also in evidence, M. E. Danforth, Otto J. DeMott, R. N. Harper, E. S. Marlow, and Donald Hall, occupying seats in the stand, while A. C. Thompson, Dr. Loren H. Johnson, Russell Oakley, George Truitt, Frank Uzman, Herbert Knox Smith, Dr. L. W. Glazebrook, and Mowen

Thompson represented the Washington Country Club, over Virginia way. The boxing clubs were represented by John Hadley Doyle, Walter Thrall, Ed. Muller, Capt. Frank Smith, and J. Herbert Doyle, of the Potomac; A. O. Porter, Ralph M. Galt, Evans Brown, C. C. Tucker, J. Miller, and R. W. Stockert, of the Corinthian Yacht Club; Russell Whelpley, Larry Green, Dick Daniels, Vernon West, and Benjamin Rutherford, of the Annapolis Boat Club; J. Miller Kenyon, H. B. White, and James A. Nicholson, of the Capital City Yacht Club; and John Guehrler, Leonard Rubin, Archie McNelly, Robert Cook, and Leopold Burke, of the East Washington Rod and Gun Club. The Washington Cricket Club's representatives were Capt. J. T. Rose, William C. McWade, Joseph Norman, William Warren, and Edgar Priest. Lieut. William Santelmann, of the United States Marine Band, was present with a coterie of officers of the corps, including Col. Charles L. McCawley, Lieut. C. G. Lemly, Gen. George F. Elliott, while the War Department officials were Col. Spencer Cosby, Capt. Frank Warren, Edgar Spornsbay, and Lieut. Watson Webster.

Others seen at the game were Bert Levy, H. M. Zook, Al Lepper, William Neuland, J. F. McCarter, Storey Hack, Eugene Gott, Dick Cochran, M. E. Ford, John Redeker, Frank Rebeck, J. Makover, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Varela, L. E. Darling, R. C. Howard, Thomas Casey, John Mackay, Harry Hines, Robert Patterson, Claude Thornburg, Postmaster N. Allen Merritt, Louis Robinson, Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, Charles C. Clark, J. E. W. Tracy, Oliver Jones, Prof. Galloway, and William Taylor.

"Cy" Cummins, Buck Oliver and forty cohorts of East Washington; A. T. Stuart, Sam Steinberg, Dr. J. G. Allen, L. E. Sinclair, H. W. Brumfield, Howland Littleford, John and Thornton Chesley, Prof. Cleveland Abbe, Alvey A. Adeo, Gen. F. C. Alsworth, Charles Edwin Alden, Champ Clark, Arturo de Marco, Lieut. Commander Radley de Aquino, of the Brazilian Embassy; C. C. Arosemena, Minister of Panama; Judge Joseph McKenna, of the Supreme Court; Senor Pedro Ezequiel Rojas of the Venezuelan Legation; Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress; Senor Don V. Salado-Alvarez of the Mexican Embassy; Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Varela, Pat Walla, Oscar Hichew, Gus Hardy, Fred Roberts, Dr. William C. Woodward, George W. Sabine, Masanoo Hanthara, of the Japanese Embassy; Judge John Marshall Harlan, and Ridgely D. Wright.

PITTSBURG DEFEATS NEW YORK GIANTS

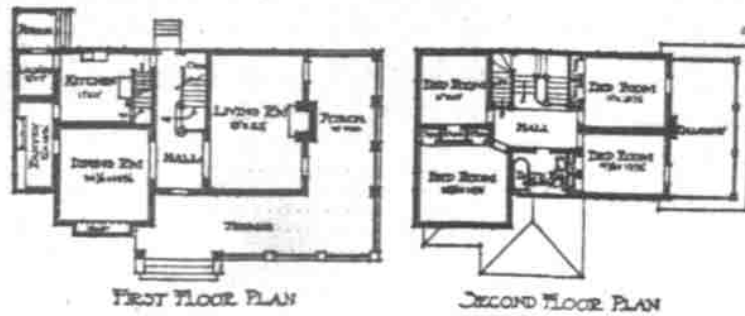

Camnitz Is Steady All the Way,
Fanning Eight Batters.

Score, 7 to 2.

New York, June 18.—Camnitz and Mathewson engaged in a spirited pitching battle in to-day's game, the New York twirler weakening in the seventh, while the Pittsburgher held on for the full nine innings, allowing but seven hits. After four tallies had been scored off Mathewson in the seventh and eighth innings, he was relieved by Crandall, whom the Pittsburghers hit as freely as they did Mathewson. Camnitz struck out eight men. Pittsburgh's infield came near play-

CARDINALS DEFEATED.

Brooklyn Takes Final Game of the Series, Score 9 to 6.

Brooklyn, June 18.—Brooklyn took the final game of the series to-day from St. Louis, 9 to 6, through good stick work. Steele started for the Cardinals, but was relieved by Dale in the first part of the fifth inning, when the locals also changed pitchers. Magee, who struck yesterday because the St. Louis management would not give him a $600 raise in salary, returned to the game to-day. Score:
